

Tax Rate Picture Brighter

Some good financial news arrived at town hall this week with the cherry sheets showing Andover with a net gain of $288,681 over the 1975 fiscal year capitulation.

The accounting of estimated receipts for the town along with charges for state and county costs, give a preliminary indication that the town's tax rate could either remain the same, or at least be within the $1 increase estimate made at town meeting.

The tax rate dropped a dollar last year to $53 and that figure seems assured for another year, with either a decrease, status quo, or increase of a dollar still to be determined.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and the assessor's department will be reviewing the Cherry Sheet figures along with the estimates used for presentation to town meeting to make the ultimate determination.

Assisting immeasurably in the tax rate assistance provided through the state receipts was the inclusion of $656,000 in the school department budget for special education (Chapter 766 funds).

The new cherry sheets issued for the 1975-'76 fiscal year, contains $560,000 for special education. If the school department had budgeted this amount or more in their town meeting appropriation, the town can use the funds for tax rate setting purposes. If it had not budgeted that amount, the funds would go directly to the particular school function.

The town's assessment for town and county operations is approximately $63,515 less than a year ago.

Costs this year will be $792,059, based on actual assessment of $822,215, less overestimates of a year ago of $30,156.

In the 1974-'75 fiscal year, the town had a net cost of $855,574 for state and county costs.

The net receipts last year totalled $2,719,141.

This total was gained from the $2,766,798 in receipts due the town from all sources. To be removed from the figure for tax rate setting purposes were some $47,657 in designated funds which must go directly to such departments as library and school lunch programs.

This year the town will have net estimated receipts of $2,944,307. The actual total is $2,996,430, with $52,122 of that in Hewlett-Packard is apparently putting an itchy finger on the "trigger" which will initiate construction of the trunk sewer line to the West Andover Industrial land.

The TOWNSMAN has learned that plans for the proposed new plant for the medical electronics firm have been before Andover town officials for review and examination this past week.

The so-called trigger is the actual obtaining of the building permit, at which time the town will proceed with obtaining contracts for the sewer line construction.

The set of plans placed before local officials for review this past week call for a two story building to be constructed on the former Shattuck Farm property on the banks of the

IGE Under Fire At Board Session

IGE -- the Individually Guided Education system in effect at South and Shawsheen Schools -- came under fire by some members of the school committee and a group of parents Tuesday night, as a possible reason for low test scores in those schools.

Principals Jack Woodward and Isabelle Dobbie are to return to the committee with more back-up information. The two schools ranked lowest of the town's six elementaries on standardized achievement tests last spring.

During the two-hour discussion on IGE, Woodward said he couldn't single out the variable that had caused scores to drop, but didn't feel it was IGE.

Associate Superintendent Harry Westcott said he "can't believe" poor achievement was directly related to IGE, and Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert indicated that such variables as I.Q.'s and economic backgrounds should be considered a part of the total picture.

The IGE controversy came to the fore earlier this year when the school committee cut the $2,000 membership charges for South and Shawsheen to participate in the Merrimack Education Center, sort of a clearing house for IGE.

At that time the committee asked for a status report.

Woodward explained IGE as a system of grouping children around individual differences, not a specific curriculum, adding that the philosophy of IGE was actually in practice in every school throughout the

The recycling committee is expected to return increased revenue to the town from the auction, with estimates of Saturday's sale at $2,300. A year ago the auction netted $1,900, plus a good time for all. Expenses still have to be paid by the committee, with a report due within a week or two on the final amount realized.

AVIS Sets Meadow Cleanup

The Andover Village Improvement Society (AVIS) will hold its first annual cleanup day at Baker's Meadow Reservation on May 10 at 9 a.m.

The public is invited to assist in widening existing foot and horse trails as well as removing winter woodfalls.

Volunteers will meet at 35 Argilla Road, adjacent to the reservation entrance for coffee and doughnuts prior to forming work teams.

This will be an opportunity for those who have not used Baker's

Meadow to become familiar with its trails, varied waterfowl and bird life as well as its natural beauty.

If possible, volunteers are requested to bring pruning shears, brush cutters, saws, or anything which would be useful.

In the event of inclement weather, the project will be postponed to May 17.

superintendents of schools — James Booth of the Regional Vocational School, Peter Garofoli of North Andover, Dr. Kenneth Seifert of Andover, Maurice Smith of Lawrence, and Dr. Paul Zdanowicz of Methuen; as well as Thayer Warshaw, English teacher and coordinator of student teachers, Newton; Mr. Thomas Passios, director Northeast Region, Department of Education; and Ms. Jones.

Interested citizens and educators from all the communities are invited to attend the conference.

EPA To Issue Permit To Reichhold Chemical

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the state Division of Water Pollution Control propose to issue a "cleanup" permit to Reichhold Chemicals, Inc., of Andover.

The permit will allow the Lowell Junction firm to empty up to three million gallons of uncontaminated cooling water into the Shawsheen River per day.

John A. S. McGlennon, regional EPA director, said the permit conditions are designed to assure that state and federal water quality standards will be met. The permit conditions are tentative and public comments are invited prior to May 14, 1975.

An EPA spokesman said that the permit is granted to allow the firm to discharge the coolant water into the stream, not necessarily in the quantities or temperatures as listed in the application.

EPA standards permit discharge of up to three million gallons per day at a temperature not to exceed 83 degrees. Quantities and temperatures are not expected to reach those figures, but the EPA issues the safe maximum, the spokesman said.

The permit is similar to one issued earlier this year to Converse Rubber Co., also for discharge of non-contaminated cooling water into the river.

High Hopes For A College Community

Sue Lawson, a freshman from Andover, has been on an all-out campaign to prevent a "Towering Inferno"-ty-e disaster at Bridgewater State College.

She's on an all-out campaign to get the state legislature to provide a fire truck for the college town, that would extend a reach to the top of the highest dorm — five stories up.

Earlier this year, a small fire on the boys' side of the Great Hill dormitory, set the wheels in motion.

Sue, a history major, found that the town of Bridgewater had the necessary equipment to fight any fire on campus, except at Great Hill, where no existing ladder could reach the fifth floor.

The town has a truck with a ladder that can extend 75 feet, but to reach the fifth floor at Great Hill, 100 feet is needed.

The matter apparently comes before the state legislature on an annual basis and it was Sue's efforts that got it there this year. After meeting with the fire chief and the associate dean of students, she gathered 600 signatures on a petition, which she presented to State Rep. Peter Y. Flynn, himself a BSC alumnus.

The bill was killed in committee, but Flynn urged Sue to keep the issue alive. He said he would co-sponsor it next year with State Senator Robert McCarthy.

Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil V. Lawson, 7 Abbot Bridge Drive.

Return Of Census Forms Encouraging

Return of the census forms and questionnaires to the town clerk's office has been good the first few days of the operation, according to Town Clerk Eldon R. Salter.

As of Tuesday about 500 returns had come into the office, with nearly all containing both the census form and the questionnaire dealing with the Central Business District (CBD).

The 8,600 forms were delivered by the post office department last Friday and Saturday. Monday the completed forms began drifting back by both mail and personal delivery to the town clerk's office in town hall.

Town Clerk Salter explains that it is imperative that residents return the forms as soon as possible, since his department must have new precincts lined up to submit to the state secretary by June 15.

Andover will be redistricted according to the census figures produced in this biennial nose count. New precincts will be made according to the figures which will be submitted to the state for the redistricting process.

The town clerk has asked that any resident of the town who did not receive a brown manilla envelope containing both the questionnaire and the census form by now, to contact his office immediately.

Salter said that many residents are returning the forms to his office personally which results in a 12 cent per family saving.

He said it was interesting to note that in the initial batch of returns both the census as well as the town questionnaire were returned. The questionnaire deals with a survey being taken regarding the future of the Central business district and whether or not there is desire for other commercial areas in the community.

Free Blood Pressure Check Set

Free blood pressure screening, under the direction of the Andover Board of Health and the Andover Visiting Nurse Association will continue this Friday, May 9 and the following Friday, May 16, at two locations.

Nurses will be giving blood pressure checks at the Andover Savings Bank main lobby at Chestnut and Main Streets and at 223 North Main Street (former Woolworth's in Shawsheen Plaza), from 12 noon to 3 p.m.

The service is to provide an opportunity for all to avoid serious health problems.

High blood pressure is a silent danger to all, and can be treated if detected in time. Unchecked it leads to stroke and kidney problems.

At the first screening session held last Friday, over 100 visited the two area, town hall and the savings bank, for a blood pressure check.

Cohen To Speak

To Discuss Teen-Age Drinking

The Greater Boston Parents League of which Andover and North Andover are members, is sponsoring a panel discussion and open forum on the problems involved with teen aged drinking - particularly since the legal age has been lowered.

The panel will consist of: Dr. Robert P. Masland, Jr., M.D., Chief, Adolescent Unit, Children's Hospital; Jerome A. Pieh, Headmaster, Milton Academy; William Fisher, Superintendent of Schools, Hamilton - Wenham.

All member schools in Massachusetts are sending faculty representatives. Parents of junior and senior high school students are urged to attend and listen, learn and contribute ideas. The situation is growing more serious every day. In a society where adults make cocktailing a basic part of their recreation, it appears necessary to explain the facts about all alcoholic beverages as soon as possible to the young. How to do this wisely and successfully will be a very important part of this open meeting to take place on Wednesday, May 14, at the Morse Auditorium of the Boston Museum of Science.

Coffee will be served starting at 9:30. The meeting will begin at ten. Mrs. Donald B. Wilson, League President, will preside. All League members will be admitted to the museum and the forum free of charge. Guests will be accommodated either by taking out membership or paying a small fee, but reservations must be made at the League office no later than May 10.

No. Andover Looks At Campion

The town of North Andover will pursue the next step in the Campion Hall property, now that original, proposed developer of the property George Costonis has let his option on the land run out.

Thomas Construction Co., of Winthrop, proponents of a 300 unit residential development on the lakefront property failed to exercise the purchase option as of April 30.

At the annual town meeting, voters rejected overwhelmingly rezoning proposals which would have allowed the construction of the condominiums on the shores of Lake Cochichewick the town's water supply.

Monday night, Mrs. Patricia Trombly, chairman of the North Andover Conservation Commission, asked the selectmen for permission to obtain appraisals on the property. She informed the board that the commission would like to find out if the Jesuits would sell the property to the town.

Mrs. Trombly added that she had been in contact with Boston realtors, Meredith and Grew, brokers for the Campion Hall property and was informed that person handling the particular parcel was currently on vacation.

Selectman Joseph Guthrie said he was interested, "in a dialogue between the Jesuits and the selectmen."

Chairman John Coady agreed and said he would be in contact with a member of the Jesuit order who is in charge of the sale of the property.

Chairman Coady and Gayton Osgood, chairman of an Ad Hoc study committee looking into the Campion property were agreeable that the special committee should consist of only nine members.

A list of persons interested in serving on the committee will be submitted to the selectmen at the next meeting and appointment of the Ad Hoc committee will be made in two to three weeks.

Day School To Conduct Flea Mart

On Thursday, May 1, 1975 the Parent's Committee of the Magic Years Country Day School, North Andover met to finalize plans for their co-operative Flea Market. The sale will be held at The Unitarian-Universalist Church, 244 Lowell Street, Andover on Saturday, May 10, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. rain or shine.

Home-baked pastries, terrariums and plants, pottery and a wide selection of "pick-your-own" custom-designed T-shirts, plus a potpourri of household items, toys, books, clothing, and much more, will be offered. Proceeds from the sale will help purchase outdoor play equipment and materials for a combination storage shed-play unit, which the fathers plan to build.

On Monday of this week the children visited Drumlin Farm in Lincoln. Drumlin Farm is owned and operated by the Massachusetts Audubon Society. During this one-hour visit, the children had the opportunity to see, hear and smell at close range some of the animals found on a working farm; such as, chickens and baby chicks, ducks, geese, turkeys, pigs, cows and sheep.

Colonial Instruction

Students at the Bradstreet School North Andover, check over some of the instruction given in colonial times. Here, Kellie Regan, Philip Spitalere and Kimberly Adkins made a horn for their books, as youngsters in colonial days did.

Enjoying Colonial School

Enjoying

Miss Nancy Jukins, second grade teacher at the Bradstreet School, North Andover is recreating for her students what school was like in Colonial Times as compared to their present day class-room.

Miss Jukins stated we have studied, researched, and written stories about colonial customs, colonial dress, colonial furniture and colonial life in general. Now we are comparing colonial schools to our present schools.

The students have a wealth of information about colonial times. They can tell you the first schools in New England were called dame schools. The teacher was a woman, who held classes in her home. Reading and writing were the only subjects taught. Students, who went to school in colonial times used a hornbook. This was a small flat wooden board with a handle. The students would attach to this board a paper on which would be printed the lesson for the day. Because paper was scarce the students would cover the wood and paper with a clear sheet of horn in order to protect the paper. Thus the name hornbook. The hornbook usually had a string through the handle so it could be worn around the neck of the pupils.

Miss Jukins' class is now in the process of making hornbooks. However with the advancement of science the students will be able to protect their hornbook with plastic wrap.

Miss Jukins stated that the children now appreciate their textbooks with the beautiful illustrations. They enjoyed the comparison of the colonial school life to the present school life, however they are most happy with their present day classes.

Knights Even Record

by Bill Lafond

The Scarlet Knights put on a good sound performance last Thursday afternoon as they nipped the Pioneers of Lynnfield 5-4 in ten innings at the latter's field.

The winning run came home by a walk in the top of the tenth. With one out, John Licciardi walked, but was forced at second base when Don Scheipers hit in to a fielders choice. Mike DeParis reached on an error by the second baseman and Scheipers went to second. The next batter Bob Redman, hit a single and the bases were filled. Catcher, Steve Juba, walked to bring in Scheipers. This proved to be the winning run.

Brian Smith was the winning pitcher. His record now stands at 2-1. He went the full ten innings, giving up nine hits and two earned runs, while striking out nine.

North Andover jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the third. Scheipers and DeParis both walked to start things off. Redman followed with his first single of the day, and the bases were now loaded. Steve Juba hit a sacrifice fly, bringing in Scheipers. This was Juba's first of three RBIs of the day. Smith then hit a base hit, scoring DeParis. Redman got caught in a rundown between third and home. A strike out ended that rally.

The Knights made it 3-0 in the top of the sixth. Fran Murphy doubled to right field and was replaced by Joe Cristaldi as the pinch runner. Mike Rullo reached first on a fielder's choice and Cristaldi was safe at third. The next batter, Licciardi hit a single to center, scoring Cristaldi.

Lynnfield then struck in the bottom of the sixth. With one out, Mark O'Hearn hit a base hit and came home when 1st baseman Gary Wolfe hit a two run homer over the center field fence.

In the Pioneer half of the seventh, Jim Nelson led off with a walk and went to second on Jerome Nalerich's sacrifice bunt. With two out, Dave Pawlowski singled and a throwing error allowed Nelson to score with the tying run. The game now went in to extra innings.

North Andover tried to end it in the top of the ninth. Juba hit a long home run to deep center-field and the Knights had a temporary 4-3 lead. Nelson led off the Pioneers half of the inning, reaching on an error and Malerich put him at second with a sacrifice. Pete Restani singled to center and Pawlowski's single to right knotted the count once again at 4-4 and another inning.

Bob Redman had three hits for North Andover while Smith had two. Steve Juba drove home three runs, while Smith and Licciardi had one RBI each for the day.

North Andover won their second straight and upped their record to 3-4 in the Cape Ann League.

Top Triton

North Andover had big rallies in the fifth and sixth innings on Saturday, romping over Triton 10-2 at the N. A. field.

It was the third straight victory for the Knights, squaring their record at 4-4.

Mike Heafey was the winner, pitching a masterpiece, striking out nine and allowing just three base hits.

It was a scoreless game until the top of the fifth, when the Vikings went out in front 2-0. Ed Rock hit a two run single, scoring Jim McAskill and Scott Willard.

The Knights hit losing pitcher, Bob Ratcliffe for five runs in the bottom half of the inning. Bob Redman singled in one run, John Licciardi drove in two more, Brian Smith's sacrifice fly hit in the next one and an error accounted for the next one.

In the five run sixth, Don Scheipers doubled and scored on a single by Heafey. Redman tripled in Heafey and scored himself on a single by Licciardi. After Steve Juba got aboard, Greg Edwards doubled in both runners to complete the scoring.

Redman led the Knights nine hit attack with three safetys and Licciardi collected two hits and drove in three runs. Rock had two of Triton's three hits.

The Knight Baseballers tried to go above the .500 mark at Pentucket on Tuesday afternoon.

Wins Two National Awards

Kathleen Kirk

Kathleen Kirk of Andover, captain of the Colby-Sawyer College equestrian team, won two national awards this past weekend in National Intercollegiate Equestrian Competition at Bennett College, Millbrook, N.Y.

She placed third in open horsemanship over fences, and sixth in open horsemanship.

She had accumulated enough points prior to the regionals to be an "automatic" for the nationals, but was nevertheless Overall Reserve Pont Rider in the Regional III-New England competition April 27. She also took a second in horsemanship over fences and a fourth.

A day earlier, in the CSC Show, she was High Point Rider, also capturing a first in open horsemanship, a second, and another ribbon.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Kirk, 65 Haggetts Pond Road, Kathleen is a senior.

Knights Lose Tough One

By Bill Lafond

The N.A. Scarlet Knights sixth inning rally fell short as the Pentucket Sachems put on a burst of firepower in taking a 10-9 win at Merrimack on Tuesday.

The Knights used three pitchers with Wayne Alexander starting and Mike DeParis and Rich Connor following. DeParis ended up the loser.

No. Andover made it 1-0 in the second. Mike Rullo reached first base on an error. He went to second on a steal and came home on Wayne Alexander's single.

In the top of the third, the Knights added another run. John Licciardi led off with a walk. Brian Smith hit a long triple to centerfield which scored Licciardi to lead N.A. early.

But, in the Pentucket fourth, the Sachems came up with eight runs. Chuck Frye scored twice and six other players scored; Mike Wendt, Barry Mansell, Mike Clark, Mike Brown, Bob Carey and Ken Goselin. There were eight hits that inning by the Sachems.

The Knights came up with four more in the fifth. John Licciardi, Greg Edwards, Fran Murphy and Don Scheipers came home for N.A. on only one hit, but there were six walks.

Pentucket added two more runs in the bottom of the fifth to make it 10-6, then the Knights batted just short in the sixth. Steve Juba reached on an infield hit and Brian Smith hit a line double to right field. That put runners at second and third for Greg Edwards three-run homer that made the final score 10-9.

N.A. will be at Amesbury Thursday afternoon in a 3:30 start.

Babe Ruth Club In Pre-Season Victory

Subscribe to the TOWNSMAN 15

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team enjoyed its first taste of pre-season action last Saturday afternoon, defeating defending Greater-Lawrence League champion Methuen 5-3 in a practice game at the Pelham Street Field in Methuen.

Andover pitches Tom Coffey, Dan Hayes, Mike Henderson and Steve Serley combined to fire a five-hitter. The quartet fanned six batters, with Hayes' three tops, but control was the major problem as 10 walks were issued.

The locals grabbed a 2-0 lead in the second inning when Coffey led with a walk, Gary Needham singled, Serley laid down a perfect sacrifice and Paul Kelly rapped a hard shot to second base which was misplayed for both runs.

In the third stanza Dave Farrell walked, stole second and raced home on Bob Zwicker's sharp single to centerfield.

Methuen hit the board in the bottom of the third, parlaying three walks by Hayes and a sacrifice fly into its first tally.

A bases-loaded walk forced in the second Methuen marker in the fourth, and the defending champs ties it 3-3 in the fifth on a two-base error, another free pass and a balk.

Andover notched the deciding run in the sixth with four successive walks to Dan Grams, Larry Larrabee, Dan Morreo and Dave Farrell.

In the seventh, Andover tacked on an insurance run when Bill Stahley lashed a sharp single to leftfield, stole second and scored on Grams' RBI single to right.

Methuen threatened in the bottom of the seventh, jamming the bases with two out against Steve Serley. However, Rick Young slammed a 3-2 pitch to Farrell at shortstop and Dave stabbed the hot liner.

Coffey was the most effective Andover chucker, pitching two stanzas of one-hit, shutout ball and facing only seven batters. Both Hayes and Henderson surrendered two singles in their two-inning stints.

The other Andover hit not mentioned above was a solid single to medium-deep right-centerfield by Serley.

Andover has other pre-season practice games listed against South Lawrence East at Mark Devlin Field, and a return engagement with Methuen at the East Junior High Playstead. The locals will also participate in the second annual league Jam-boree on May 31, at Devlin Field, and the regular season opens June 2.

Young Warriors On The Move

The Andover JV baseball team, after an opening-day 8-7 upset loss at the hands of Tewksbury, has proceeded to win five of its last six games to stand at 5-2 overall at presstime.

The squad, consisting of five juniors and 11 sophomores, has been improving rapidly with each contest. Team members are Tom Coffey, Scott Collins, Dave Dauber, Jay Doherty, Bill Emmert, Dan Hayes, Mark Lalonde, Bob Jenkins, Dan Morreo, Gary Needham, Dave Packard, Sean Reming, Tom Romano, Mitch Rousseau, Bill Schlott and Paul VonSacken.

On opening day, the young Warriors jumped off to a quick 5-0 lead, only to see it go by the boards because of carelessness and overconfidence. Tewksbury battled back to grab a 6-5 lead, only to have Andover rebound for a 7-6 edge.

Finally, thanks primarily to a mental error in the outfield, Tewksbury netted the two winning runs in the top of the seventh. Andover then loaded the bases in the bottom of the stanza, but a 5:30 p.m. curfew forced an early end to the game.

Coach Ed Kelley simply referred to it as "one of those days."

Andover had two starters missing from the lineup, and the players were guilty of missing too many signs and failing to take advantage of numerous opportunities.

Getting Untracked

Game two proved to be quite different, as Andover squar3d its ledger with a 3-1 win over Billerica despite the continued absence of two starters.

Backboning the victory was some excellent pitching by Bob Jenkins, Sean Reming and Mark Lalonde, with the latter registering a save.

The play of the game occurred in the final inning, when Scott Collins made a great catch in right field and then doubled a Billerica runner off first base.

In game three, played on a frigid April afternoon, Andover blew Methuen out 11-3 at the Gill Avenue field.

The young Warriors were sparked by the hitting of Dan Hayes, who went 3-for-3, and winning chucker Mark Lalonde who was 2-for-4.

Game four found Andover on the wrong end of a 7-0 score before it exploded to rout the Lawrence JVs, 13-7.

The Lancers, taking advantage of the windy conditions, jumped way ahead against AHS starter Scott Collins. However, relief pitcher Bill Emmert slammed the door with a fantastic shutout performance and also powered the offensive comeback with a 3-for-4 day.

Four Straight

Andover made it four straight victories with a 5-1 conquest of Austin Prep, and the count could have been much higher except that several Warriors' shots were slammed directly at a Prep fielder.

Again it was Bill Emmert saving the game for Bob Jenkins, who pitched well but weekend in the fourth stanza.

In game six Chelmsford lefthander Chris Pisarik finally tamed Andover, although his one-hit shutout was somewhat deceptive as AHS again lined numerous hard-hit balls right at a Lions' defender.

Chelmsford jumped ahead 3-0 in the first inning against Scott Collins, and that stood up as the final score on another freezing day. With no one out in the opening

Concert Honors Rev. Bodge

An afternoon concert at South Church on Sunday, May 18, will be part of the celebration commemorating the doctoral degree being conferred upon the church's minister, Everett Bodge.

The Andover Arts Ensemble, including Marguerite Brockway, soprano; Laszlo Kertesz, cello; and Jeanne Porter and Wanda Paik, pianists, will provide music by Mozart, Repigi, Vivaldi, Brahms, Scrialen and Gershwin, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Jeanne Davis Porter, a member of South Church, is a graduate of Oberlin Conservatory of Music, former teacher at the University of Florida, and mother of four children.

Mrs. Porter is presently coordinating a master's degree program at the Oberlin Conservatory and the University of Colorado, and is a piano teacher in Andover.

Wanda Paik received her musical training at Northwestern University, where she studied with Louis Crowder and Gui Mmobaerts. She has recently been studying with Adele Marcus in New York.

Jeanne Davis Porter

Mrs. Paik has appeared with the Lincoln-Sudbury Civic Orchestra and the Framingham Symphony. She is the mother of three children.

Marguerite Bockway received her bachelor and master's degrees in voice and history of music from American University, on scholarships from the National Society of Arts and Letters. While still a student of James McLain, she was chosen to present a recital at the Phillips Gallery of Art in Washington. Later she won the Student Vocal Auditions of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

She is married to Lt. Com. Warren Brockway, has two children, and is vocal music supervisor for the Amherst, N.H., elementary schools, as well as a private teacher.

Laszlo Kertesz, cellists, was born in Hungary and graduated from the Franz Liszt Royal College of Music in Budapest, and played with the Budapest Symphony.

He came to this country with his wife, Hilda, 26 years ago. He studied at the University of New Hampshire and Vermont, Rivier College and the Oberlin Conservatory of Music. For 18 years he taught cello at Summer Youth Music Camp at the University of New Hampshire, and is now first cellist of the Nashua Symphony. The concert is free.

Children Enjoy Their Day At St. Robert's

Although the weatherman didn't cooperate, everything else went well for the Nursery School pupils at St. Robert's Country Day School when they celebrated Children's Day at school on May 3.

Traditionally, Children's Day, a Japanese holiday, is held on May 5, but since the children aren't in class on Mondays, it was held earlier this year. The large 15 and 18 foot fish kites didn't fly from the flag poles this year because of the rain. Instead, they hung from the ceiling in the church hall as the children, wearing hats they had fashioned in origami-style, and displaying pictures they had created in art, came and sat on their "mats" to have green tea and rice crackers and listen as Mrs. Atsuko Fukuda of Tewksbury talked to them of the origins of Children's Day.

Mrs. Fukuda brought a beautiful display of Japanese dolls and warriors with her, and she explained the various costumes and armaments of the exhibit.

Afterwards, the children flew their own fish kites in the hall (since it was still raining). They were made in the shape of the carp with numerous bright colored streamers for the tail.

The children were also measured, which is another of the Children's Day traditions.

A special scroll was inscribed for each child showing their height and signed by Mrs. Harold Keegan, the school director.

Teachers assisting at the program included: Mrs. Werner Anderson, Mrs. Paul Convey and Mrs. Martin Dispensa.

Further plans for the month of May at the school include an Ecology Day, a May Pole and May Procession Party, a Field Trip to the Ringling Bros. Circus in Boston, and the Annual Parents' Meeting. Graduation Day will be Thursday, June 5.

Further information about the school may be obtained by contacting the Registrar, Mrs. Thomas Perivolotis, 90 Lincoln Road, Tewksbury.

Special Worship Service At Chapel On Sunday

PHIL WILSON

The Phil Wilson Quartet will perform a Christian Worship Service in the jazz idiom in Cochran Chapel on the Phillips Academy campus on Sunday, May 11th at 11 a.m. This is the 47th annual concert given by the James C. Sawyer Foundation.

Phil Wilson, trombonist and leader of the quartet, now heads the Jazz Division of the Afro-American Department of the New England Conservatory, and heads a large experimental conservatory jazz band called the Uptown Dues Band. He taught at the Berklee School of Music, following an eight year career on the road as trombonist with Woody Herman, Clark Terry, Louis Armstrong, Herbie Hancock, Marian McPartland, Bobby Hackett, the Dorsey Brothers Orchestra and Buddy Rich's Orchestra. Mr. Wilson has been on the Board of Directors of the International Trombone Association since 1972 and was a nominee for the Grammy Award for the arrangement of "Mercy, Mercy, Mercy" as recorded by Buddy Rich in 1969. In 1972, he conducted the Boston Symphony Orchestra in their children's series in premiere of his own work "The Earth's Children" and also conducted the Westchester Symphony Orchestra in his own composition, "The Left and the Right" for Symphony Orchestra and the Marian McPartland Trio.

The Phil Wilson Quartet was formed in the summer of 1964, the group's intention from the start was to be free-form in nature. To start a piece, one member of the quartet states a theme or a short melodic fragment, thus establishing a key, tempo and mood. This melodic fragment is then improvised on, resulting in the development of the theme. The music you will hear is completely improvised and is a direct interpretation of the scripture via the artists' medium.

The feelings experienced by an artist in developing his art form are deep and far-reaching as are the feelings expressed in religious verse. An artist uses his art form as an expression of his approach to life. Jazz and religion both reflect an approach to life.

Father's Day Theme For Fair

What do Doherty School and Lynda Johnson Robb have in common? Not a great deal except a desire to put fathers into the picture with a sharper focus for the young child. Lynda Robb came to Boston last week to participate in a panel on Mothering Fathering: Rethinking Roles and joined other panelists in urging fathers to be more than breadwinners.

Doherty Principal, Lois Haslem, her staff and PTO have always shared this concern and have initiated the annual series of Fathers' Breakfasts held on successive Wednesdays in February as an attempt to make the male parent a visible part of the Doherty scene.

Dads are again the subject for special attention as the annual June Fair on June 14 adopts a Father's Day theme. Children will have an opportunity to buy a plant for Dad's office or a treasure from the "under a Dollar" table. Kids with a "do-it-yourself" attitude can create an original piece of Art at the "Spin-Art" table or in the Art Room which teacher Ann Foley will gamely staff from 10 to 2.

Co-chairwomen, Anne Merrill, 115 Chestnut St., and Penny Deery, 18 Burton Farm Drive have sent out a request for donations for the White Elephant table (anything but clothing).

Massachusetts means "place of the great hills."

Will Attempt To Open Lines Of Communication

The Financial Picture

Charles H. Wesson, Jr., new chairman of the Andover Finance Committee, will attempt to solve some tender nerves as part of his initial duties.

Wesson, elected to succeed Atty. John C. Doherty at an organizational session this past week, said he intends to seek to open up an area of communication between the town's financial advisors and the selectmen and other town boards and committees.

This has been a constant sore spot in the past between the FinCom and some of the town boards. Just prior to the last annual town meeting the selectmen were upset with some of the decisions of the FinCom after what they believed had been some mutual agreements on budget items.

The selectmen were also disturbed at FinCom attempts to supposedly wrest administrative powers through exercising control over reserve fund disbursements, rather than funding projects to the amount prescribed in the warrant.

Wesson said this week that as one of his initial acts, he had written Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and requested a meeting with the selectmen to discuss the area of communications between the two boards.

The new chairman, who is in

Parrotta Is Recipient

Marc J. Parrotta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Parrotta, 158 Beacon St., Andover, is one of seven students at Merrimack College who has been selected to receive the "Chemical Rubber Company General Chemistry Achievement Awards."

The awards consist of a scroll and a copy of the new 56th edition of "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics," published by the Chemical Rubber Co.

Parrotta is a sophomore civil engineering major and has maintained a 3.62 cumulative average and has been recognized as a Dean's list student at Merrimack. He is a 1973 graduate of Andover High School.

Expertise in financial management gained from raising a family of six daughters, will be brought to the Andover Finance Committee this year by Charles H. Wesson, Jr., shown here with wife, Mary Therese (Piazza) and family members, Paula, Elaine, Dana, Mary-Ellen, Anne-Marie and Kathleen.

the final year of his first term on the FinCom paid tribute to his colleagues, noting the town "has some very dedicated people working in their interests." He said it was difficult to assess the number of hours FinCom members put in reviewing town budgets and financial matters annually of their own free time.

He said it would be his intent to have the committee remain on top of issues as they present themselves during the year, viewing the development of Hewlett-Packard construction in West Andover and the accompanying sewer line construction by the town as possibly coming on the horizon soon.

Wesson feels that the effort made by the FinCom this past year to cut the regional vocational school budget, should be beneficial.

The new chairman said that the attempt, while defeated on town meeting floor, alerted the Voke School committee to be more attentive.

Recognizing that the voke school board is autonomous, like local school committees, Wesson feels that the action this year should result in better communication in the future. He is hopeful the FinCom members will be invited to review budget making processes earlier and have some grasp of the regional school's operations.

Chief objection this year was not the operation of the school, but rather that there is no financial review unit overseeing the regional operation.

Wesson brings to the chairmanship a business management career, currently serving as associate director of John Hancock Insurance Co., in Boston.

He received a B.S. degree from Merrimack College in 1954 and has served as vice president, president and a member of the Board of Governors of the school's alumni association.

In 1969, he was selected as Outstanding Young Man in America.

He has been a member of St. Augustine's Parish Finance Committee and is a charter member of the Andover Jaycees, an organization he served as vice president and director.

Married to the former Mary Therese Piazza, the couple resides at 38 York St., and have six children, Paula, Elaine, Dana, Mary-Ellen, Anne-Marie and Kathleen.

Other officers elected at the organizational session of the FinCom include Mrs. Virginia Cole, vice chairman; Donn Byrne, treasurer and Mrs. Dana Duxbury, secretary.

system.

He said the schools were divided into units, or teams, with unit leaders responsible for several teachers. The leaders also meet regularly as a group and with the principal.

Other IGE characteristics include multi-age grouping, pre-testing and assessment, home-school relationships, in-service training, and cooperation with the "league," or the MEC.

Miss Dobbie recommended continuance of IGE on a fee basis, with the schools contracting for individual services, such as workshops or materials.

Thirty Shawsheen parents, however, indicated by a letter read into the record by Chairman Frank Griggs, that they found IGE "wanting."

The parents, who asked that their names be withheld, said they were arbitrarily condemned to an IGE school, and open education "whether we like it or not," and added that their day-to-day experience over three years had led to serious concern for our children's academic welfare and future. IGE has been in effect for three years.

They implored the committee to establish "a true alternative now," adding that they had lived with "implementation pains" of new programs and with the problems of renovations - - and would tolerate "the adjustments necessary to institute the traditional school alternative."

Miss Dobbie said that some parents told her about two months ago that they were going to send her a letter, but that they hadn't "had the courtesy" to show it to her. She also indicated, under questioning from Chairman Frank Griggs, that she felt other parents were happy with IGE.

Woodward also answered in the affirmative, basing his opinion on attendance of parents at advisory group meetings.

A Line For Lawrence

Dependence of one community upon another will be amply demonstrated in the coming weeks and months as Andover and Lawrence move jointly to resolve matters concerning sewer lines.

Andover, of course, is anticipating the trigger action of Hewlett-Packard in constructing a plant in West Andover which will initiate construction of a trunk line sewer.

That trunk will hook up with a Lawrence trunk line. The city is also looking toward the new Andover trunk to carry backwash water from its filtration plant across the river to the new Greater Lawrence Sanitary District plant.

Also, the city is planning construction of a new high school, which will be tied into another trunk line. This particular pipe is Andover's trunk which follows the course of the Shawsheen River to the Merrimack, and will also be tied into the new sanitary district plant in North Andover.

Underlining all of these proposals is a most significant consideration - - cost.

The $2.5 million appropriated a couple of years ago by Andover for the trunk line to the West Andover industrial area, may or may not be sufficient to build the line.

Some financial relief may be sought by Andover officials from the proposed developers of the area.

If the Lawrence line from the filtration plant takes the route to the West Andover trunk, an increase in the size of the pipe will be necessary.

When the new high school is built, larger mains will be necessary in that trunk line.

What all of this means, as we see it, is some long, hard negotiations between the city and town administrators.

There are courtesies and obligations involved.

Over 50 years have transpired since Andover and Lawrence officials came to formal agreement on the path of the Shawsheen River trunk line which permits city entry into the system at any time.

The new line to West Andover will be mutually beneficial, aiding Andover's industrial growth and solving a problem ordered corrected by the city by the Environmental Protection Agency.

We can remain hopeful that the negotiations and discussions between the administrators of the two municipalities will have mutually beneficial results.

The State Police And Conservation

The Trustees of Reservations, a rather august body dedicated to the preservation of open space and antiquities, has been causing some problems for the State Police.

A member, or members, insist that the radio tower which has serviced the region from Holt Hill on property of the reservation, is unsightly and should be removed.

The Commonwealth, desiring to please as many as possible, has asked the town's permission to move the tower and accompanying service building (shack) to town-owned land a short distance from its present location.

The cost is estimated at $25,000.

Frankly, if the Commonwealth is in such dire financial straits, and we have every reason to believe that such is the case, we hardly deem the expenditure of $25,000 for a new tower advisable, just because some people care not for its appearance.

The tower has been beaming life saving signals, instigating response to scenes of crime, etc., for well over 25 years from its present location.

It will soon serve as a beacon of protection via call boxes on Route 93.

That it is unsightly must be a purely personal matter, since it is the first time in over a quarter century that anyone has even bothered to notice the tower or shack.

In a spirit of economy we would suggest the Trustees withdraw their objections and allow the tower to remain in its present location.

The service building is even serving as a conservation post, if you will, since, as we understand it, numerous squirrels call the place home.

We trust the Trustees feel similarly and will relent on their insistence that the tower be moved.

Pvt. Stevens' Journal

In this portion of the diary of Pvt. James Stevens of Andover, the Revolutionary soldier notes a bit of discord resulting from the company's selection of a 'sargent,' a problem resulting from a misunderstanding and resolved quickly.

Monday Ye 8: We did not prade. While fore aclock there was won (Daniel) Felps shot into the brest by won of his own company belonging to Stockbridge. Gould in the hospital died belonging to Boxford. (Elijah Gould, son of Stephen and Hannah (Perkins) Gould of Boxford, ages 23 years.)

What Our Readers Say:

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

W. Berthold's letter of May 1 is all to the good though short of correcting the situation discussed. For example:

The State legislature is occupied by representatives "over which the voters could at least have some control" but the legislature still has a reputation of taking care of its own. Moreover towns that do have representative government do continue to have the problem of nonattendance by representatives whose district has nothing special wanted of a town meeting.

However, there is a way with which to make Andover's town meetings better, much better. But it has little to do with the number of people who attend a given town meeting or; if they are representatives. Madison in his Federalist Paper No. 55 puts his finger on the problem:

"Nothing can be more fallacious than to found our political calculations on arithmetical principles. 50 or 60 men may be more properly trusted with a given degree of power than five or six. But it does not follow that five hundred or six hundred would be proportionably a better depository."

It is clear then that we should seek not to rely so much upon a minimum number or representation, though that is essential, as upon adequate limitations on the powers of town meeting so that they may not be used incorrectly, or imprudently even if correct. Most voters, for example, will agree that town affairs would be better served by making it difficult to give any subsidy rather than to say that 200, 500, or 800 voters' approval is sufficient.

In this light it can be understood that town meetings generally need controls such that centers of power are duly limited to the end that votes are cast in keeping with common sense rather than common cabals that live off of town meetings in many towns.

An Open Letter to Dr. Katz

Yours was a well planned and adroitly executed maneuver at the recent town meeting. Under the pretext of saving taxpayers' dollars you succeeded in depriving our School Committee of the benefit of competent legal counsel and further weakened their already strained capacity to effectively influence school policy.

Many of our townspeople are irritated and puzzled by your overkill of this line item in the school budget - the money the Committee requested for legal counsel. They think the town ought to know that you were not preoccupied with saving taxpayers' dollars, nor were you particularly concerned with fiscal integrity, pleasant though it might be to believe that. They think the town ought to be aware of the subtle pressures - not really subtle at all to anyone observing the school scene - which were motivating you at that town meeting.

Let it be said at the outset that the School Committee was on solid legal ground in budgeting for its own legal counsel separate from the town counsel. Provisions for special school department legal assistance are spelled out in Section 37F of Chapter 71 of the General Laws relating to School Committees. To describe our School Committee's request for such assistance as evidence of a propensity for "silly wrangling" is not quite truthful. It does little to aid the community in understanding the complex nature of the Committee's role.

What Our Readers Say

To view your action from a more enlightened perspective, the townspeople should grasp the reality that you were the chairman of the former School Committee that initially hired and then granted life tenure to our present Superintendent, Dr. Seifert. Yours was the Committee that instituted the policy of progressive education in Andover, and Dr. Seifert was the Superintendent that installed the radically new programs in our public schools. Your granting of life tenure to the Superintendent insured that subsequently elected School Committees would have their hands tied in attempting to alter the "innovative" philosophy which has now been institutionalized.

Alarmed at the progress the present independent counsel was making on School Committee legal matters, you apparently saw a threat to the continued influence and control by your progressive educationalists over school department policies, practices, and educational doctrine. You would prefer the Committee to be entirely dependent on counsel appointed by the Town Manager and Selectman, rather than a lawyer who can be completely objective, free and aloof from the pressures from other boards, and who has expertise in school legal matters.

The establishment which you and your former Committee conceived and nurtured fosters an educational environment unencumbered with guidelines for achievement, objectives, standards, and accountability for the results of its performance. Though saddled with the legal responsibility for School Department "boondoggles" and the usual paper shuffling attendant to routine school business, our duly elected School Committee has proved powerless to elicit from our educators a practical program of staff evaluation, academic standard setting, or accountability for the learning results achieved in our schools. Our Committee's dependency on data gathered, interpreted, and presented by administration personnel on alternatives and priorities established by them, practically insures that their decisions are made on the basis of an educational perspective defined only by the very people whom the School Committee is supposed to govern. The model recently submitted to our School Committee by the teachers' union for "self" evaluation is a perfect example. Apparently the performance of our school system and those who man it shall continue to be evaluated solely by the educational practitioners themselves - a privilege denied most other professions and vocations.

Your successful maneuver to strip our School Committee of legal muscle may, however, serve one noble purpose if it alerts perceptive townspeople to where the true power and influence behind our school policies and programs really lies. School Committee Chairman Griggs and others delude themselves that our elected school officials comprise anything more than a titular body, void of any real effective power and influence over the direction of school policy.

That the monarchy of the superintendency is strongly influenced by you, and your followers, was aptly demonstrated at the town meeting as Dr. Seifert uttered not a word in support of the School Committee. One would suppose that a Superintendent would be most happy to have his own legal counsel at his disposal, but the Superintendent remained mute on the Committee's request. One can only conclude that his sympathies lie with sources other than the elected School Committee and strongly suggest that his cooperation with the Committee is something less than the 100 per cent which he publicly professes.

But we should also remember that the town and the School Committee are inseparable, and when you put the School Committee in jeopardy you did the same to the town at large. If the Committee is vulnerable, so is the town and in the same degree. Without the benefit of skillful and unconstrained legal advice, the complex questions inherent in School Committee decision making could involve the Committee - and the town - in endless "silly wranglings." A recent Supreme Court decision on students' rights exposes a school committee and its administration to suits by students and their families. Towns across the country are discovering this serious fact of life. Legislation making teachers eligible for unemployment compensation during the summer will raise a forest of strange legal trees. Suits filed by certain bus drivers in disagreement with a school administrator's management of their contracts are not mere "silly wranglings" as you suggest, nor are suits threatened by teachers or administrators challenging the authority of the School Committee to make demotions when performance slackens.

It appears that in such matters as demotions, the "legal wrangling" initiated by the aggrieved parties need never be based on the merits of the action taken against them, but rather develop as the result of poorly drafted school department personnel contracts that give teachers and administrators such a host of procedural loopholes to avoid accountability for their actions that it makes a mockery of school board authority.

The management of a $9,000,000 school budget is a large enough project to command the attention of top drawer legal counsel. The School Committee will not have the benefit of that caliber of counsel in the coming year. Your little victory may be Andover's big disaster. You may think you shot down the School Committee, but you also hit a lot of innocent bystanders too - the people who elected it and the people it serves.

Demonstrations and classes will be held all day, and the public will have an opportunity to actively participate. You can see his skillful work through this month, and you can learn woodcarving techniques on May 22, when Mr. Tucker will be instructing in the principles of woodcarving during the arts and crafts festival.

Post Woman Seen

Many people wanted to talk further about the issues raised during the three day symposium on women, so the library has asked Rev. Robert Outman of Christ Church to present his impressions of Woman Seen on May 9 at 9:30 a.m. Rev. Outman will direct most of his thoughts to "The Women's Liberation Movement and the Church."

some seeds. Each child should bring an empty fiber (not plastic, please) egg carton. Please register by phone or in person at the Children's Room desk.

These and other books of American historical fiction are available at the Children's Room. Try them.

Bob Says:

Every year it seems there's more and more spigots in the barrel marked "America's strength." For almost 200 years, hard work, ambition, and capitalism large and small, filled that barrel up. In the 30 years since WWII, the 'gummint' has figured out so many ways to tap it that the level is now dropping noticeably. The way we're going, it won't be long before half of us are supporting the other half - a most unstable condition.

If you're a capitalist (or financially dependent on one) you may have noticed the serious effect similar spigots can have on your business. I actually had a man from a major local company tell me that with business the way it is, he felt "lucky" to have his two (brand X) copiers. It's almost as if he was working for the copier rather than the other way 'round. Do you sometimes feel that you're working for your copier? Call us.

Friends Of Library Offer Sketched Notes

The Friends of the Library have a solution to the eternal problem of selecting a small but meaningful gift, or for finding interesting note paper for ones personal use.

For sale at the Main Desk in the library are packages of note paper featuring a drawing of Memorial Hall Library done by Andover artist Beth Rokicki. The notes, done in sepia tone, are being offered at a nominal cost along with postcards made up in a black and white reproduction of the same sketch. The latter provide an attractive way to get off a quick note easily.

Another gift idea for those interested in building a print collection or who enjoy scenes of Andover is a larger dark blue and white print which can be ordered attractively matted and framed or is available without framing.

These items comprise a fund raising activity for the Friends, the proceeds from which will be used to provide items useful to the library but which could not be purchased within its budget.

AFS Plans Garage Sale

I JUST COULDN'T DO IT ON MY OWN

I wished I joined Gloria Stevens a long time ago. I lost weight on my own. Every pound got harder and harder. I finally admitted that I just couldn't do it on my own. I couldn't reach my goal, without help. Even if I had lost the weight on my own, I know I wouldn't have lost the inches where they really counted, my hips and thighs. That takes exercise. One of my friends joined Gloria Stevens and got fantastic results. That made up my mind. I joined; I love it; I've never regretted it. I've lost 12½ pounds and 13½ inches.

Don't do what I did. Don't wait. Come to Gloria Stevens for the professional guidance and friendly, sincere help, which is a must.

Trip Club Forming At YMCA

The Andover-North Andover YMCA will conduct its Trip Club for the eighth summer beginning June 27. Six weeks of programs are planned by the YMCA Youth Program Director Gary Green who will be responsible for this activity.

The Trip Club will feature bus trips of interest to boys and girls 7-12 years of age which will include, among others, a Red Sox ball game, deep sea fishing trip, excursions to the Kingston N.H. State Park, Canobie Lake Park, Benson's Wild Animal Farm, Logan Airport tour, Lawrence YMCA Day Camp, etc. The youngsters participate in a day schedule which begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 4 p.m. and which varies according to location and facilities at the destination for the day. Recreational Jones, currently organist at Wellesley Congregational Church, is director of the Music at Noble and Greenough School, Dedham and Director of the Dedham Choral Society. The YMCA will also be running a Summer Fun Club program on Tuesday and Thursday, hours identical with the Trip Club, so enrollment in the two Summer Clubs will provide complete and varied programs for the youngsters and supervision for the full day, Monday through Friday of each week.

Trip Club is open to both present YMCA members and non-members. General enrollment opens May 15 at the new YMCA building, 165 Haverhill St., Andover. Individuals may register without enrolling for specific weeks and will then receive by mail week by week listings of the special trips so they may then enroll for weeks with programs of special interest to them.

Restaurant Complaints Received

Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Messina, 287 Chickering Road attended the North Andover selectmen's meeting Monday night. To make the selectmen aware of the problems that have developed since the opening of the 99 Restaurant on Chickering Rd. Mr. Messina stated the parking problem is a safety hazard, people ignore the no parking signs on the highway, the refuse barrels are emptied at 1:45 a.m.

Thomas Murray, a pupil of the late Clarence Mader, was appointed organist of Immanuel Presbyterian Church in Los Angeles in 1966. He has performed widely in Europe and recorded a broadcast-recital of contemporary American organ music for the Vatican Radio.

A gala evening is planned for "Maifest," to celebrate the completion of the first phase of the renovation of the Hall. Those in attendance will be able to see the completed work, enjoy the Pop Concert and dance to the music of the Shriner German Band.

In keeping with the "Maifest" theme, Waitresses will be dressed in Austrian costume and May wine with strawberries, cheese trays beer and soft drinks will be Messina stated he had talked to the manager but nothing has changed. The selectmen stated that they were aware of the situation. The police are waiting for a fine to be set for the illegal parking, and that the cars will be tagged. The selectmen also stated that they would contact the owner of the restaurant because when he applied for the license he stated that the restaurant would be run like the Andover 99 Restaurant, which has not had any of these problems.

The selectmen received a letter from Dr. Julius Kay, chairman of the North Andover Board of Health relative to the approval by the town meeting to have a town nurse for the elderly at a stipend of $2,400 a year.

Dr. Kay stated that in the opinion of the Board of Health this nurse will have no professional supervision, and it is suggested that the board of health set up "Specific procedures" for all applicants to this position even though the selectmen have the final say in the appointment. The selectmen will meet with Dr. Kay May 19 to discuss the matter.

Amateur Radio Club Forming

Ham radio operators in the Andover area have recently met to discuss the formation of an amateur radio communications service.

Larry Douglas was elected president pro tem.

Fred Eastman, Civil Defense communications director, assured those present that the long-standing service provided by Civil Defense Communications to the town would be continued and improved.

The proposed amateur radio club for Andover is seen as an extension of the kinds of activities long provided by the CD hams and the addition of other worthwhile activities in amateur radio. The emphasis will be service to Andover and the Merrimack Valley. Full cooperation with other groups and activities in and around the town is fundamental to the consensus philosophy of the group interested in establishing such an organization. Training, e.g. code classes and instruction in electronic theory is anticipated. The major goal of training would be the obtaining of an amateur radio license for interested individuals.

During the organizational phase only licensed amateur operators are invited to respond.

Anyone holding any amateur license and wishing further information should contact: Fred Eastman, 103 Abbot St.; Cliff Lawrence, 16 Clark Road; Larry Douglas, Ted Cole, Earl Hudson, Mac Johnston, Bud Noyes or Norm Hunt.

Warriors

inning, trailing 3-zip and Chelmsford threatening for more with two runners aboard, Andover summoned its "Oriental Flash" (Bill Emmert) yet another time.

For the third game in succession Emmert stopped the opposition in its tracks, relying basically on a sharp-breaking curveball.

Mitch Rousseau's infield single was the lone Andover safety.

Coach Kelley remarked after this game that "Chelmsford wasn't teaching good baseball by playing its outfielders approximately 350 feet from the plate at this level of competition."

"In this instance it worked out—admitted Kelley, "but Lawrence tried the same thing only to give up nine hits that fell in front of the distant outfielders."

The Chelmsford coach had kind words for Andover, tabbing the Warriors as the best team the Lions had faced to date.

A 19-2 Blowout

In game seven at Wilmington High, Andover finally found the gaps in the outfield and pounded out 17 hits enroute to a 19-2 romp.

The AHS eruption was led by Dave Packard, Tom Coffey and Bill Emmert.

Packard, just back from a vacation-week trip to Europe, went 3-for-3 while Coffey was 4-for-5 with a long homerun and two doubles in his first appearance of the season.

Not to be outdone, Andover's Oriental Flash entered the game in the fifth and hammered a homerun over the left field fence in his only time at bat.

The mound duties were handled by Coffey, Jenkins and Lalonde. Emmert was not needed, fortunately, because he was recovering from a slight stiffness in his elbow.

With seven games under their belt and 11 still to go, the Warriors appear headed for a strong overall season. Kelley feels his club can match anyone around, thanks to solid hitting and great relief pitching.

Current estimates on completion date and initial work forces going into the plant are August 1976.

The briefing session and presentation of plans has been a process to alert the local officials as to the progress of Hewlett-Packard in locating in Andover in the industrial property owned by Awkright - Boston Insurance Co. and for which Andover voters approved $2.5 million in funds to build a trunk line sewer connection to the area in 1973.

Actual construction date was initially set for a year ago. Last spring, Hewlett-Packard indicated to local officials that it would delay its construction scheduled at that time due to the economic situation.

Some development work did, however, proceed with the construction of roadways and site preparation during the fall and spring.

The alerting of local officials as to the current status of H-P development plans, initiates some problems for the town, in view of sewer line construction, rising costs and Lawrence interests.

The $2.5 million appropriated a couple of years ago was the best estimate at that time for bringing the trunk sewer line to the industrial land in West Andover, and connecting with the Lawrence trunk.

Since that time costs have risen and the TOWNSMAN has learned that current estimates indicate that the appropriation could be short of the amount available by about $350,000.

This figure, however, is unknown at the moment due to consideration of the possibility of the city of Lawrence bringing a line across the Merrimack River from the city filtration plant and connecting with the new trunk line.

Indications are that Andover will seek some bids on two sizes of sewer line construction, one for the originally planned line, the other a larger pipe to handle the increased flow from Lawrence.

Lawrence is under orders from the Environmental Protection Agency to remove the discharge of backwash water used at the filter plant from the Merrimack River.

The most economical way would be to pipe it across the river to the new trunk line which will be tied in with the Greater Lawrence Sanitary District Treatment Plant in North Andover.

City and Andover officials have been discussing the matter the past several weeks.

Some of the increased cost factors involved in the Andover sewer line construction may be tempered by the city participation in the overall project.

There is also the possibility that local administrators could seek some assistance from either the developer, Arkwright, owners of the land, or Hewlett-Packard the initial industrial park tenant.

When the Hewlett-Packard proposal was presented to the town over two years ago, original estimates called for the multi-million dollar plant to employ up to 750 persons initially, by the end of 1975.

Additional construction and continued employment buildup is planned over a five year period, according to the initial planning presentation.

Road improvements on River Road are also contemplated as part of the industrial park development. The state is to improve and complete the Route 93 cloverleaf at River Road, and widening of the road is to be accomplished by the town with Chapter 90 funds.

H-P has granted the town conservationists a strip of land on the banks of the Merrimack to continue its trail system as part of the original agreement with the town at the 1973 town meeting.

Finding School Just Ducky

Youngsters in the Ballardvale Nursery School had an enjoyable visit to the duck pond off Argilla Road this week. Attempting to feed the reluctant feathered friends are from left, Jeremy Levine, Jennifer Slatnick, Jamie Mackay and Susan Wood.

15 In Line For Post As Manager

The search for a business manager for Andover Schools was narrowed to 15 or so by the school committee Tuesday night, when they directed the administration to contact applicants who had been given three votes in preliminary screening.

Those of the 15 who are still interested will then be called in for interviews. There were a total of 140-some applications.

In other personnel action Tuesday night, the committee approved the retirement of Mrs. Margaret VanDewoestine, a reading teacher at East Junior High.

Mrs. VanDewoestine has been a teacher here since 1960, and Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert offered "words of praise" for her service. She was one of the original ones in changing the nature of the reading project in junior highs, he said.

The committee also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Linda Homonoff, a third grade teacher at West Elementary, who is moving out of state, and reappointed Mrs. Sondra Finegold, as a learning disabilities teacher-tutor at West Junior High. Her appointment did not appear on the April 1 list because her certification had not yet come through.

assigned funds.

Like everything else these days, the cherry sheets are no longer strictly according to their name. This year the estimated listing of charges and receipts arrived in the traditional pink or cherry, from which the designation arrives and another section in green.

Various new forms and requirements have also arrived with the sheets, thus an immediate observation of the actual tax rate situation awaited a review of estimates of the town and the state, as well as the requirements as set forth for distribution by the state tax department.

News never takes a holiday and this newspaper continues to bring that news to your home throughout the year, as it happens.

Book Return Sought

If library books and encyclopedia volumes found at home are returned to Andover secondary schools -- no questions will be asked.

Mrs. Annette Freedman, media director, said the media centers are launching an SOC -- Save Our Collections -- campaign.

Spring housecleaning, Mrs. Freedman says, is especially likely to turn up some books which have not been returned to the school libraries.

Such books may be returned to any school library, she said, and they'll be passed on to the correct school.

She said the no questions policy will be enforced, because "we are only anxious to recover the missing volumes."
